Play by the rules

“Playing Fairly” “Being a good Winner” “Being a good Loser” 34K DPS

We discussed this week and even played games where rules weren't explained clearly and then were. We discovered that it was very important that everyone understood the rules to a game and therefore everyone knew what was happening and most importantly, everyone participated and enjoyed what we were playing. So playing by the rules is important.

Be respectful and play safe! If you play by the rules, it will be fun for everyone. If you play by the rules you won't get hurt and that also means using the school equipment appropriately. Finally, if you include others there will be no arguments.

Zak Resuagan

Playing by the rules is important because:

No one gets hurt, it's more fun and you get to make more friends!

Things you need to do:

Have Fun! Play Fairly! Listen to the rules! Keep your hands, feet and objects to yourself!

Tamara Brooks

You should always play by the rules because it is safe and it shows you are a better role model for other people, definitely for the preps. I love playing by the rules, it is fun!

Dylan Gledhill

Play safely
Listen carefully to the rules
Agree on the same rules
Yes! You can play with me.

Be careful.
You can be part of our game.

Tell the rules to everyone playing.
Helps friendships.
Explain the rules to rules to your game.

Re explain the rules.
Use the playground equipment appropriately.
Let people play.
Enjoy!
Solve problems by talking.

FAMILY WORKING BEE AND BBQ

I can't believe that I have muddled the date for our Working Bee and Family BBQ AGAIN!!!

At our Unit meeting last Monday, we were going over our meeting timetable for the term and discovered that both Jose and Nicole are at a meeting for the new Victorian curriculum next Monday 27th Feb. As the plan for the afternoon was for Jose and Nicole to be familiar with the work associated with planning a working bee, then they really need to be there,

I trust that this has inconvenienced you all working. We will need to move it forward to Monday 6th March, still starting at 2pm and Family BBQ at 5pm.
